

I was born in Arsiero, a small town in the Valdadastico area of the province of Vicenza, northern Italy.

I was the second to last of six children, comprising

On September 8th, 1943, the Italian government surrendered and left Rome to seek

Nineteen people were killed that day.

Luigi returned home but it took him a long time to recover from that traumatic experience.

As soon as the war was over it was time to find work and start rebuilding w