

Speech by Christopher Prentice, former Ambass

between two countries operate at many levels and have many constituent elements. But the best relationships depend on a bedrock of mutual affection and esteem between peoples.

May I at this